Ed Evans CCC/POW Report: He continues to pursue information and photos related to the historic site. He along with Nick and Dan have several speaking engagements in the next few weeks and he will get back to the secretary with the dates so that they can be listed in the newsletter for the future. He handed out a list of places he would encourage Friends to be in contact with so as to make those groups aware of the historic site and any additional information they could share with us would be greatly appreciated. Ed will work with an individual who has already contacted him about writing a book. He will email information to Kate so she can make contact with folks at Letchworth who may have more info.

Future Events: Meet and Greet the Park Manager is April 18 in Shelter 1. Friends will be represented and volunteers will oversee various areas of interest ie gardening, birdwatching, house maintenance, fund raising & membership. Present Friends members will be encouraged to sign on to these projects. I Love My Park Day (ILMPD) will be held on May 2 and more information will be available after the webinar that Jeanine and Holly will be attending February 25. This years projects include: tree planting, painting the bathrooms in Loop C, cleaning up the basketball court, and cleaning up and weeding the gardens at the house on Moscow Road as well as the CCC/POW historic site. Jeanine will contact Jason Baxter to post the information on the Friends website because the newer website isn’t up yet.

Other discussion: Jim Lugert discussed the suet feeders and duck houses. He said at this point the suet is being purchased at Wegmans. The duck houses would be located at Howden Pond as to be seen by the public.

There was discussion regarding a snow blower for use at the future museum site so that there is access when needed. Don will check into the possibility of obtaining it from John Deere possibly by auction.
